Originally intended to be just 2 volumes. This set documents in a most detailed way, the contents of the letters speeches, negotiations, telegrams and the like that went on at the suffrage conventions, petition campaigns and other activities.

This is the official, in-depth, history that reprints letters, speeches, petitions, and all the rest. This is an extraordinary history that shows the organizers' penchant for detail and recognition that a complete history of the movement was not only desirable but essential. There are numerous internal documents, letters to conventions, speeches and the like that were not reprinted elsewhere. An invaluable resource.

A tour and talk for young people of sites in Rochester NY having to do with Anthony: The Unitarian Church, Anthony Hall at the University of Rochester, and the Susan B. Anthony Memorial. Includes a chronology of Anthony's life, a list of memorials and honors, a bibliography, and a short narrative biography.

This prints 17 essays and includes a list of anti-suffrage publications. Includes the essays, "Suffrage Fallacies," by Mrs. A. J. George, "The Ballot and the Woman in Industry," by Mrs. Henry Preston White; "Massachusetts compared with suffrage states," Catherine Robinson, "Woman Suffrage and War," by Mrs. Charles P. Strong, etc. Written after 295,939 people in Massachusetts voted against woman suffrage in 1915.

20. (ANTI-SUFFRAGE-Broadside). THE WOMAN'S BIBLE; Editor Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Carrie Chapman Catt, President of the National Suffrage Association, one of the revising committee. [caption title]. np: [ca 1920]. Broadside, 16.5x 9.5 in. [58651] $350.00

Flexner notes that after her election to be the first president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association a position which she held until 1892, Stanton's leadership position in the woman suffrage movement had come to an end. Her primary concern became the responsibility of established religion for woman's inferior position. In 1895 and 1898 she published successive volumes of an astringent critique of the Old Testament, called The Woman's Bible, consisting of a detailed analysis of Biblical passages derogatory to woman. There was strong opposition to the work among suffragists ... the suffrage convention of 1896 passed a resolution explicitly disavowing any responsibility for The Woman's Bible, which was in effect a sharp rebuff to the old leader[Flexner, p. 220]. Stanton continued writing the critique until her death in 1902.

This present piece, possibly written by a member of the clergy, takes issue with statements in "The Woman's Bible" much of it having to do with the ability to hold meetings on Sundays and ends with the declaration: "This is the teaching of National Suffrage Leaders. | Are you willing for women who hold these views to become political powers in our country?"

The writer argues that "women don't want it" and that it wouldn't promote the general welfare of the country.

Rev. Lyman discusses the reasons, in his opinion, women shouldn't want the vote.

Barry integrates Anthony's personal story into the political, economic, and cultural milieu of 19th century America.

   An outline of the structure and functions of U.S. government, a history of its political parties, written before there was national U.S. suffrage for women. Beatty was a human rights activist.

26. BEECHER, Catherine And Stowe, Harriet Beecher. THE AMERICAN WOMAN'S HOME: or, principles of domestic science; being a guide to the formation and maintenance of economical, beautiful, and Christian homes. NY: Ford, 1870. See BAL 19453; Cagle 70. [59179] $75.00
   Catherine Beecher did not support the suffrage cause, but advocated a dedication to domestic science and education for women. There is a detailed discussion of the role of women and a guide to the formation and maintenance of economical, healthful and beautiful homes. This includes practical information for home makers. Illustrated with drawings and engravings.

   Beecher opposed women's suffrage and advocated advanced education for women in domestic science. Here she offers common sense hints on health, etc. Beecher was active in the American Woman's Educational Assoc.

   Articles on legislation, women's suffrage, education; reviews and notices; "notes...of the quarter" on matters involving women.

THE FIRST ORDAINED WOMAN MINISTER OF A RECOGNIZED DENOMINATION IN THE UNITED STATES.

30. BLACKWELL, Antoinette Brown. THE PHYSICAL BASIS OF IMMORTALITY. NY: Putnam, 1876. First Edition. 8vo, pp. 324. Ex-library copy with bookplate on the front paste down, wear at the extremities of the spine, small label on lower spine, library stamp on corner of title-page and a couple of places in the text, spine cloth repaired, actually a pretty clean copy for all of that. Scarce. [56905] $650.00
   After fighting to study for the ministry at Oberlin College, Blackwell (1815-1921) followed a successful career as a lecturer, speaking on woman's rights, anti-slavery, and temperance in Pennsylvania, Ohio, New England and New York, before being finally ordained as a minister of the First Congregational Church, Wayne County, NY. She was the first ordained woman minister of a recognized denomination in the United States. She stayed in the official ministry only a year, being dismissed at her own request in July of 1854. She continued to lecture on the same platform with Susan B. Anthony and Amelia Bloomer.
and was very active in the woman suffrage movement. She published 11 books [which] ... are a religious and philosophical exploration of the universe, society and woman's role ...[Blaine p. 101], "It cannot be doubted that the great question of to-day, for Science and Religion equally, pertains to the nature and to the duration of Personal Life. The inquiry embraces all lives; our own, and those of other beings who are either above or below mankind in the scale of existence; but who may possess, like ourselves, the similar attribute of an individualized consciousness."

Bowne (1847-1910) was a Methodist clergyman and philosopher. He headed the philosophy department at Boston University and was the dean of the graduate school there. He opposed mechanistic determinism and developed a philosophy of Personalism[DAB]. Bowne openly supported woman suffrage in his Ethics (1892) and conducted the funeral services for Blackwell's father, Henry.

An attempt to describe the long struggle that women have made for their emancipation by a supporter of the movement. Chapters deal with women to the restoration of 1750, the beginning of reform, Mary Wollstonecraft, and woman suffrage. With a bibliography and index.

34. BRECKINRIDGE, Sophonisba P. MADELINE McDOWELL BRECKINRIDGE; A Leader in the New South. Chicago: Univ. of Chicago Press, (1921). First Edition. 8vo, pp. 275. A very good copy. Little worn at the extremities of the spine, o/w a very good tight copy. [47835] $75.00
A portrait of the distinguished woman by her sister-in-law. Madeline Breckinridge grew up at the family home, Ashland, built by her famous great-grandfather Henry Clay. In 1898, she married Desha Breckinridge, the editor of the Lexington Herald and brother of Sophonisba Breckinridge. She was chair of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs from 1908-1912. During this time she successfully pushed for the passage of legislation allowing women to vote in school board elections. She was president of the Kentucky Equal Rights Association for two separate terms and vice-president of the National Women's Suffrage Association. The importance of her efforts in the fight for women's suffrage cannot be overstated by those in Kentucky and the rest of the nation. She died in November of 1920, shortly after the ratification of the 19th Amendment, and after she cast her first and only vote.

35. BROCKETT MD., L[inus] P[ierpont]. WOMAN: her rights, wrongs, privileges, and responsibilities. Containing a sketch of her condition in all ages and countries ... her present legal status ... her relations to man ... her ability to fill the enlarged sphere of duties and privileges claims for her, her true position in education, professional life, employments, and wages, considered. Woman Suffrage, its folly and inexpediency ... Cincinnati: Howe's Subscription, 1869. First Edition. 8vo, pp. 447. Illustrated with full page engravings. Lacks the tissue covering the frontpiece. Krichmar 1489. [58636] $450.00
Brockett examines the whole question of the political, social and economic status of women and uses scriptural history as the basis of his analysis; arriving at a conclusion against woman suffrage and for a traditional role for women.
36. BROWN, Olympia. ACQUAINTANCES, OLD AND NEW, AMONG REFORMERS. [Milwaukee: by the author], 1911. First Edition. 8vo, pp. 115. Gray cloth, illustrated with photos, a very fine copy. Krichmar 4542. Rare. OP. On the front blank end paper, Brown's holograph describes how this book came to be written: "In 1911 the legislature of Wis submitted the Woman's suffrage amendment to the voters. I telegraphed Mrs. DeVoe [Mrs. Emma] to come and conduct the campaign. She came but circumstances prevented her from remaining & while there she suggested the preparation of these sketches as being more valuable for the purpose of sale, to aid our treasury than a cook book accordingly the sketches were hastily thrown together & with all their incompleteness ever given to the association as a slight help in paying the bills of the campaign." Signed on the verso of the frontis portrait: "Olympia Brown | 941 Lake Ave | Racine, Wis" [59364] $2,500.00

37. BROWN, Olympia. ed. DEMOCRATIC IDEALS, A Memorial Sketch of Clara B. Colby edited by ... [Racine, WI: : Carrie Stebbins?, 1917]. First Edition. 8vo, pp. 116. The Cambridge clergyman supports the suffrage cause.

An author and orator, Curtis spoke forcefully and often for woman suffrage and education, for political and social reform and free speech, and against slavery. He spent two years at Brook Farm, and was president of the National Civil-Service Reform League from 1881 until his death in 1892. His style is pithy and direct. Curtis was the editor of Harper's Weekly.

Ms. Zakrzewska was founder and resident physician at New England Hospital for Women and Children (1862-1902). This is a story of her struggle for education and work. Caroline Dall was an active worker in the woman suffrage movement. Her best known work was "The College The Market and The Court." She was also one of the organizers of the second woman suffrage convention, in Worcester, MA.

Includes A call to my countrywomen, and other essays. The author's second book. She was an advocate of liberal causes, but believed women should wield indirect influence in politics and was opposed to women's suffrage.

The well known essayist supports extending educational opportunities for women, but opposed the woman suffrage movement. She attacks the view that women are constitutionally weaker than men and limited to the domestic sphere. She calls for liberal education with open occupational opportunities. She did not believe that woman suffrage would solve the problem of economic discrimination and favored indirect political influence for women. Dodge was a teacher at the Hartford Female Seminary, later moving to Washington DC and writing under her pseudonym. See NAW.

Contains a short biography of Hanaford in addition to the poems, many of which have to do with the Civil War. Hanaford was a Nantucket native. Born a Quaker, in 1866 she became the first woman to be ordained in Massachusetts when she was called to the First Universalist Church in Hingham. Thereafter she served several New England churches. She was active in the temperance and suffrage movements, and wrote copiously for periodicals, as well as publishing ten books, among them a biography of Lincoln. See also #146.

Several issues show marginal tears, one is torn in two along the central fold. [55129] $450.00
Willard and Livermore, America Women pp 379-380. Mrs. Hill supported woman suffrage from a family of anti-slavery activists. She was a teacher for 10 years and one of the first to join the Temperance Union. She actively worked for societies that helped working women and worked for the Prohibition Party. During the public school agitation in Boston in 1888 when twenty thousand women rescued the public school from mismanagement, Mrs. Hill was among the leaders of the movement ... she was president of the independent voters, a recognized powerful political organization. The need of a party organ was felt and Mrs. Hill, unaided at first, began the publication in Boston of a weekly newspaper, which is now (sic) cared for by a stock company of women, Mrs. Hill is (sic) editor of the paper, which is called the "Woman's Voice and Public School Champion[ p. 380]."

"Author humorist and popularizer of woman's rights and temperance doctrines"[NAW] was widely read as Josiah Allen's Wife. Her 20 humorous works, written in dialect belong to the tradition of Yankee humor established before the Civil War. Holley however, took the convention a step further to present a rustic philosopher who was a woman and who had strong opinions supporting woman's rights and temperance.

Hollister was a professor at the Univ. of Illinois and here echoes the letter of President Woodrow Wilson, printed at the beginning of the book, as he unequivocally calls for full suffrage for women. Hollister discusses the need of women to be able to take a full share in the civic and social life of the country, especially in light of the service that women rendered during WWI.

102. HOOKER, John. WOMAN SUFFRAGE AND THE MARRIAGE RELATION; (offprint) To the Editor of the [Hartford] Courant (ca.1870). Single sheet (24 x 4 in.) on newsprint (some water stained in the margin), a very good copy. [16574] $25.00

The History of Woman Suffrage (vol.II, p. 327) notes: "Mrs. [Isabella] Hooker was ably sustained in her ... position by her husband, a prominent lawyer of the state. Being equally familiar with civil and canon law ... he was well equipped to meet opponents of the reform at every point. While Mrs. Hooker held meetings in churches and school-houses through the state, her husband in his leisure hours sent the daily press articles on the subject. And thus their united efforts stirred the people of the state." In this letter, Hooker argues that easier divorce laws are not a demand of the woman suffrage movement and that it is only Mrs Stanton who wants to change the divorce laws. He argues that the issue of divorce will remain the same whether there is woman suffrage or not.

Portraits of life in jail. This includes chapters on "An American Example: The Little Mother of American Prisons", and "The case of the woman: the suffragettes as prisoners." (30pp.)

Includes work by William Cullen Bryant and Henry James, etc.

Howe was a keen observer. An interesting account of her life, travels and causes, and the people she knew.

106. HOWE, Julia Ward. Author Of "the Battle Hymn Of The Republic". (1819-1910). ALS, 2pp. on 12 x 6 in. paper with the letter of "The World's Industrial Centennial Exposition: Dept of Woman's Work, June 5th, 1885, My dear David. In very good condition. Included is a small broadside by Howe about the New Orleans Exposition (1884-1885), noting the need for the work of women to be represented at the exposition. (not in BAL). Typed transcription of the letter included. [58853] $650.00

Howe writes to "David" about depositing of her semi annual remittance where "it is drawing interest" and noting that $50 is taken out for "dear Cory." She mentions that the "Expo is nearly stripped of all it glories. I am waiting to see the debts of my department duly paid." She notes that she will be coming home soon and approves of all the "bric-a-brac" she mentioned from Howe's dear brother.
Howe is best remembered for "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" but she was also a life-long reformer and activist. She was active in the American Woman Suffrage Association, Sorosis, The Women's Clubs and a host of other organizations. She was the first woman elected to the American Academy of Arts and Letters (in 1908).

107. HOWE, Julia Ward. Author Of "the Battle Hymn Of The Republic". (1819-1910). ALS, 2pp. to Miss Gilder; March 17, 1909, written when she was 90. Some fading from framing, marginal repairs with tape, good. Howe describes a photo for publication, explaining part of her family tree: "Henry Shaw, son of my grand daughter, Julia Ward Richards and Carlton Shaw, her husband ... I have no objection to giving his name to the magazine ..." [38177] $600.00

Written in a strong hand, just a year before her death. Howe is best remembered for "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" but she was also a life-long reformer and activist. She was active in the American Woman Suffrage Association, Sorosis, The Women's Clubs and a host of other organizations. She was the first woman elected to the American Academy of Arts and Letters (in 1908).

108. INGERSOLL, H. C. PETITION OF ... praying that the right of suffrage be granted to women in the District of Columbia. Washington, DC: Senate, 1870. First Edition. 8vo, pp. 2. Removed. 41st Congress, 2d session, Mis. Doc. no. 47. Very good copy. [54507] $75.00

A short biography, an interview, and several articles by Howe, who was a socialist and an activist in women's suffrage and other reformatory causes.

A discussion of the principles of suffrage rights and how the right ought to be governed. Jones considers voting a privilege that must be applied for and attempts, at some length to determine the qualifications necessary for exercising that privilege. This was published in the year of the Dorr's rebellion in Rhode Island for state constitutional reform of voting rights.

A biography and an account of the violent and brutal struggle for women's right to vote in England.

112. KEATING, Edward. WOMAN SUFFRAGE, Extracts from speeches in the House of Representatives, January 12, 1915. Self wraps (actually two 8-1/2 x 11" sheets) that were stapled, now separate, 8pp. Very brittle pulpy paper now split at all folds (each sheet had three folds so that the item could fit in a mailing envelope). Included is the soiled envelope with Keating's free frank, the printed return address advertising the suffrage sheet lacks half of the printed portion. The text seems to be complete. [31695] $75.00

Edward Keating was a Representative from Colorado, but born in Kansas. He was editor of the Rocky Mountain News (1906-1911). He served in Congress from 1913-1919. Lost his re-election bid in 1919. In this piece, being sent home to constituents, Keating argues that Colorado allows women to vote and that it is a "symbol of human liberty ... I believe in woman suffrage because I believe in Democracy ..." An eloquent pro-woman suffrage piece.

A pro-suffrage volume of popular wisdom. "Why hem her in with home as "her sphere" and then withhold from her the power by which she could hinder men from placing a saloon beside her door to ruin both? Answer: "She's nothing but a woman." Includes chapters on "The Bible and woman suffrage, Disfranchises, rights, who are citizens, freedom and equality," Keith offers homely wisdom and answers objections to woman suffrage, etc.

114. KELLEY, William D. SPEECHES, ADDRESSES AND LETTERS ON INDUSTRIAL AND FINANCIAL QUESTIONS; to which is added an introduction with copious notes and an index. Philadelphia: Henry Carey Baird, 1872. First Edition. 8vo, pp. 514 + adv. Bound in green cloth, some external wear, cloth torn along the lower hinge, hinges starting, a good copy. Presented by Kelley's daughter, reformer Florence Kelley to her son Nicholas on the top of the title page: "Nicholas Kelley | from his mother | Florence Kelley | July 12th, 1906". FK. [50009] $300.00

William D. Kelley (1814 - 1890) was a Republican member of the U.S. House of Representatives from Pennsylvania. Kelley was a lifelong advocate of civil rights, social reform, and labor protection. He was admitted to the bar in Philadelphia in 1841. In 1846 Governor Shunk of Pennsylvania appointed him a judge of the Court of Common Pleas. He served as a judge of the Philadelphia County Court of Common Pleas from 1846-1856. He came to national attention after his 1854 speech against the slave trade, "Slavery in the Territories", was published and widely read. After the repeal of the Missouri Compromise by the Kansas-Nebraska Act in 1854, Kelley quit the Democratic Party. In 1854 Kelley was one of the founders of the Republican Party. Kelley was elected as a Republican to Congress in 1860 and served from March 4, 1861, until his death in Washington, D.C.. He spoke often on the justice and necessity of "impartial suffrage", or voting rights for African-Americans, introduced a bill (which passed into law) in the 39th United States Congress which gave the right to vote to African-Americans in the District of Columbia, and spoke in favor of impeaching President Johnson, who had vetoed the Civil Rights Act of 1866 and the Freemen's Bureau Bill.

The letter and form are 8-1/2 x 11 in. The letter notes that Francis has not responded to an earlier inquiry and "That woman suffrage is recognized as one of the vital questions of this year's political campaign ...” The questionnaire asks if the candidate is in favor of woman suffrage; if he will vote in Congress to submit the amendment to the states and if appointed to a committee with jurisdiction will he do all in his power to expedite the amendment? Envelope soiled, sheets show old folds, very good condition. Scarce. We have never seen one of these before. [36294]$250.00

Born in Pittsburgh, PA, Bradley was one of the organizers of the Allegheny County Equal Rights Association and was elected President of the Pennsylvania Woman Suffrage Association in 1912. She later became chair of the Congressional Committee under Mrs. Catt at the national level. As far as we can tell, Mr. Francis was never a member of the US Congress.

Includes an article noting that the library has in its collection a manuscript, Report of The Woman's Rights Convention, Rochester, 1848.

The author was Executive Secretary Department of Citizenship Connecticut Woman Suffrage Association. This was prepared as a first step towards giving women their necessary civic knowledge so as to be active voting citizens.

Contains an article by Louise W. Havemeyer, The prison special; memories of a militant. She sketches the demonstrations in Washington calling on Wilson to support suffrage, her imprisonment, and her speaking trip on the "Prison Special" afterwards.

An anti suffrage tract that criticizes the suffragists for a lack of knowledge about politics. Molly Elliot Seawell (1860-1916) was the author of forty books, including regional fiction, romances, books for boys (primarily nautical stories), and nonfiction. She also penned political columns for newspapers in Washington, D.C., and New York. Socially conservative, she opposed the growing woman suffrage movement, and her consistent depictions of African Americans as servants and slaves—while acceptable to and endorsed by much of her white readership at that time—reflected her belief that blacks were inferior and peripheral members of society.

This meeting featured speeches and workshops on all aspects of female life: education, philanthropies, industries, temperance, professions, and organizations. Participants are a veritable who's who of the women active in the movement. Includes reports and speeches by Anna H. Shaw, Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Ednah Cheney, Frances Willard, Mary Livermore, Helen Campbell, Julia Ward Howe, Abby M. Diaz, Matilda J. Gage, Lucy Stone, Harriet Robinson, Antoinette Blackwell, etc.

Minister and Physician, Shaw was an active suffragist. Born in Newcastle upon Tyne, Shaw (1847-1919) emigrated to Lawrence, MA in 1851. Shaw's family were Unitarian abolitionists and their home was a stop on the Underground Railroad. She preached her first sermon as a Methodist in 1870. She graduated from Boston University and refused ordination until 1880 when she became the first woman ordained by the Methodist Protestant Church. Six years later she got her MD from BU and was an organizer and speaker for the Mass. Suffrage Assoc. She was recruited by Susan B. Anthony to the National Woman Suffrage Assoc, became a national lecturer and was the vice president of the organization (1892-1904) and President in 1911. She spoke throughout the nation and testified before Congress on woman suffrage.

Reprints the resolution to establish a joint memorial to Dr. Shaw at Bryn Mawr College and Woman's medical College of Pennsylvania.

Shaw was a Methodist minister, who grew up on the Michigan frontier during the 1850s, and who became one of the most famous speakers on social reform subjects. The book contains a biography of Shaw and a collection of her speeches.

A booklet of short biographies of women famous for their work for human rights and human welfare.

"The opinions of the ...writer are those of a Liberal of the old school, as yet unconverted to State Socialism..." Includes an essay on woman suffrage.

An argument against suffrage. A general discussion of the issues by the Canadian writer.

THE TRANSCRIPTS OF THE FAMOUS FREE LOVE TRIAL

One of the great scandals of the time, the Beecher/Tilton trial must been seen in the light of the free love advocacy of Victoria Woodhull. Living with Dr. Woodhull and her husband Capt. Blood and the target of intense political gossip. Woodhull attacked Henry Ward Beecher, demanding that he own up to his relationship with Elizabeth Tilton. When Beecher maintained a silence, Woodhull spilled the story in a speech in Boston and printed the charges in her Woodhull and Claflin's Weekly. Within hours, she and her sister were jailed for passing obscenity through the mails. Theodore Tilton, novelist and former Beecher associate, later his successor, in the editorship of the Independent, charged Beecher with criminality in relation to his wife Elizabeth Tilton and instituted a civil suit laying his damages at $100,000. The trial, which lasted 6 months, resulted in a hung jury. Woodhull testified at the trial and, it is said, developed relationships with both Tilton and Beecher, continuing to advocate free love. In that Woodhull was involved in the woman suffrage movement, running for President in 1872 at the head of the "Equal Rights Party" the case takes on a larger significance, offering a fascinating side bar to the 19th century Woman Suffrage Movement.

Novelist and poet, Troubetzkoy (1863-1945) was born in Richmond, Virginia. This was her most famous book which sold over 100,000 copies in three years. Blain notes that her sensual descriptions place her in the "erotic school" that included Gertrude Atherton and Eleanor Wilcox. She was a successful novelist with interests in woman suffrage and educational reform.

These lectures were delivered in the William L. Storrs Lecture Series before the Law School at Yale University. Tucker [1853-1932] was a Congressman from Virginia and an opponent of most social legislation. He argues that a Constitutional amendment providing for women's suffrage would violate the division between state and federal powers. According to Tucker, the right to vote is not a federal issue, but a local one.

Frances Willard was an educator and crusader for temperance, women's rights, suffrage and political reform. Illinois gave a statue of her to be placed in the Statuary Hall of the Capitol Building at Washington, D.C. This is a book of the proceedings at the dedication, with a photograph of the statue.

From Wikipedia: The Women's International League for Peace and Freedom (WILPF) was established in the United States in January 1915 as the Woman's Peace Party. It is a non-profit non-governmental organization working “to bring together women of different political views and philosophical and religious backgrounds determined to study and make known the causes of war and work for a permanent peace” and to unite women worldwide who oppose oppression and exploitation. WILPF has national sections in 37 countries. The forerunner to the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, the Woman's Peace Party (WPP) was formed in January, 1915 in Washington, D.C. at a meeting called by Jane Addams and Carrie Chapman Catt. The approximately 3,000 women attendees approved a platform calling for the extension of suffrage to women and for a conference of neutral countries to offer continuous mediation as a way of ending war. Two WILPF leaders have received the Nobel Peace Prize for their peace efforts and international outlook and work with WILPF: Jane Addams, in 1931 and Emily Greene Balch in 1946.”
Accompanied by her sister, Wright first settled in New York City, while she attempted to establish herself as a dramatist. Frustrated by her lack of literary success, she returned to London in 1820. Upon her return to America in 1824, she became a leading figure in the agitation for woman suffrage and the abolition of slavery. Of note was her attempt to establish an experimental colony for the gradual emancipation of slaves on land purchased near Memphis, Tenn. She lived at Owen’s New Harmony for some years before establishing the “Hall of Science” in New York to serve as a platform for her lecture series. See NAW, etc.
